Nice emerging bowl... Tiny!

Love box elder!

17:01:43 From Gerald Avery, Winter Haven, Fl:

17:02:38 From Gordon Kincheloe- Alamo Woodturners:

good videos.

17:03:17 From Tres Lennep:

17:16:22 From John Bruch:
How do you price your ornaments?

17:17:29 From Lan Brady:
great info on centering the head

17:18:24 From Andy Schuster:
great demo. lots of info! thank you

17:19:39 From Billy:
LOL

17:22:39 From Billy:
Excess pen blanks would be good for these.

17:22:56 From Matt Harber:
Yup.... excess pen blanks are good for finials too.

17:23:06 From Billy:
Yes

17:23:16 From Martin Clarkson:
that's a interesting question from john brunch

17:23:44 From Billy:
And some of us are pen blank poor (sarcasm)

17:24:24 From Matt Harber:

Pricing on ornaments varies, depending on how complicated i they are and what the market is. I make some from sea urchin shells, with finials, and I charge $45 apiece for them.

17:24:37 From Billy:

Meaning I have a few thousand, Eddie

17:24:45 From Matt Harber:

Hahahaah!!

17:24:47 From Dave - Crescent City to Eddie Castelin(Privately):

Absolutely great (SMILE)

17:24:47 From Pohl Barn:

pen blank poor Billy Burt ?

17:24:55 From Mike Morris:

that is cool

17:25:14 From Billy:

Cool demo, Tres

17:25:54 From Lan Brady:

yes, great demo

17:27:03 From Dan Summers - Columbus Ohio:

thank you Trex

17:27:09 From Dan Summers - Columbus Ohio:

ters

17:27:29 From John Bruch:

How do you edit your videos? Some program on Apple??

17:31:55 From Matt Harber:

So very cool!!

17:39:16 From Clint Hoyle:

I'm curious about the applications of pressure pot vs vacuum pot.

17:39:52 From Matt Harber:
You need the pressure pot to force the bubbles out.

17:40:14 From Pohl Barn:
some resins will also boil under vacuum

17:41:28 From Matt Harber:
How does the Harbor Freight pressure pot stack up?

17:41:50 From Pohl Barn:
I have two Matt and it works fine for me

17:41:59 From Matt Harber:
Thanks!!!

17:41:59 From Dane Chandler -Tucson AZ:
it is used by many

17:42:33 From Pohl Barn:
just don't push your pressure above 50psi

17:43:39 From Matt Harber:
When mixing or coloring resins, what's the process? Do you color the resin before adding the hardener? What about adding things like metal powders or glitter?

17:43:57 From Billy:
I get all my Allumilite and Cactus Juice from Curtis

17:44:21 From Pohl Barn:
I do it after I mix the parts A and B just so I know that they are completely mixed before adding color

17:44:49 From Matt Harber:
Thanks, Pohl!

17:45:45 From Pohl Barn:
metal will sink for the most part in the resin before it sets up, Alumilite clears sets in 7 minutes so you can get it to suspend using Alumilite

17:46:11 From James Desbrow Alamo Woodturner:
How can I get in touch with Robert Franlin?

17:46:59 From Dane Chandler -Tucson AZ:
<https://franklinblanksandcrafts.com/>

17:47:09 From Dane Chandler -Tucson AZ:
link above

17:47:17 From James Desbrow Alamo Woodturner:
Thanks.

17:48:51 From Brent:
Will you discuss the volume vs. weight conversion for Alumalite?

17:50:17 From Andy Schuster:
thanks for the info but I have to leave now, see you
woodturners next week

17:51:47 From iPhone:
do you have a blow off valve on your pots?

17:52:01 From Pohl Barn:
yes

17:57:34 From Dane Chandler -Tucson AZ:
bob will talk about V vs W when he gets to the mixing
explanation

17:59:59 From Billy:
The only resins that don't require pressure (that I know of)
are Liquid Diamonds and polyester resin (and it sucks).

18:01:25 From Matt Harber:
So does it then follow (or make sense) to let it set up for the 5-7 days?

18:01:53 From Matt Harber:
Thank you!

18:04:39 From Matt Harber:

The chat has been very useful... Thank you everyone!

18:12:32 From Stephen Makuka:

what about infusing wood with cactus juice?

18:13:13 From Pohl Barn:

you still have to make sure the wood is 100% dry before
using Vacuum Stabilizing

18:13:27 From Dane Chandler -Tucson AZ:

that is used when stabilizing with a vacuum chamber. not
the same as casting.

18:15:36 From Billy Dillard Houma, Louisiana:

Could you use a vacuum pump to get moisture out

18:19:53 From Brent:

If you need a certain volume, how do you figure out how much A and B

18:20:20 From James Desbrow Alamo Woodturner:
