I have 3 Lathes. My first lathe is the oldest is 127 years old 10x36 Senica metal working Lathe from Senica New York. It has a modified Delta tool rest so I could do woodturning. In 1979 it was purchased at auction in Georgia at the Atlanta Screw Screw Company that had been closed down after WW2. This was their spare lathe and had little use on it. It now rest in the corner of my garage. Next is my SherlineMod 4400 miniature machinist lathe it is 3 1/2 x 24 inch, with optional riser blocks to make it 6x24. The Sherline has made over 26,000 pens (mostly Corian for DuPont) The Lathe I now use the most is my Jet1442.

@Larry - I use Mercury Flex for my CA finishes. Love it. It does require accelerator. I do six coats of thin, 6 coats medium, accelerator every 3 coats.
Barely hitting the pen with the accelerator. Get too much and you get bloom.
