16:28:40 From Robert Hodge to Everyone:

Gotta be sheer/slice cuts.... which you can do with carbides...

16:30:19 From Kade Bolger, Woodturner to Everyone:
Good day everyone. Cheers.

16:30:53 From Billy Burt - Alamo City, Texas to Everyone:

17:00:07 From Ron Vincent Wyo., MI to Everyone:
Friend called and A tractor trail lost control and took down a Kentucky Coffee Tree. He asked the neighbor if he could have the wood. So I now have completer tree, and the best part is he is storing it for me behind his barn

17:00:48 From Billy Burt - Alamo City, Texas to Everyone:
Nice, Ron!

17:03:00 From Matt Harber to Everyone:
Sweet!

17:14:00 From Matt Harber to Everyone:
What is the motor?

17:14:42 From John Scelfo New Jersey to Everyone:
I use a rotisserie motor!

17:14:55 From Kade Bolger, Woodturner to Everyone:
bike peddle

17:15:44 From Kade Bolger, Woodturner to Everyone:
yes, a rotisserie motor works well.

17:16:24 From Scott Hampton, Visalia, CA to Everyone:
For those heading to Chattanooga TN for the AAW Symposium, I hope you'll join me for one or two of my presentations while you are there. I'll be teaching how to make a deep-textured platter on Friday during the third rotation, and an off-center bowl with deep-textured rim during the second and fourth rotations on Saturday. If you can't make my classes. I hope you'll try and find me just to say "Hi" ☐ .

17:16:35 From Scott Tague Wisconsin to Everyone:
I use a rotisserie motor on the lathe

17:17:19 From Matt Harber to Everyone:
Thanks!

17:19:07 From Kade Bolger, Woodturner to Everyone:
Get a Oneway lathe and it slows to a crawl. Perfect for epoxy finishing amongst other finishes.

17:19:44 From Tim Hatch Bastrop, TX to Everyone:
But if I use my Lathe Kade I can't turn other items...LOL...

17:19:45 From Kade Bolger, Woodturner to Everyone:
A Oneway Lathe will go that slow.

17:20:37 From brenda thornton greenville ohio to Everyone:
what is the idea speed for this

17:20:39 From Billy Burt - Alamo City, Texas to Everyone:
I can adjust the converter on my 3520B to go that slow too if I want to.

17:20:59 From Kade Bolger, Woodturner to Everyone:
True Tim. very true. lol. I know right! 2 is better then one then.

17:21:20 From Dane Chandler -Tucson AZ to Everyone:
you need a quality brush so bristles don't come out & ruin the finish. I use Purdy and they cleanup easily with acetone.

17:21:37 From Scott Tague Wisconsin to Everyone:
My motor turn about 2 rpms.

17:21:58 From Tim Hatch Bastrop, TX to Everyone:
LOL... Im still trying to convince my better half to let me upgrade... Check to Wife is not all its cracked up to be...LOL

17:21:58 From Billy Burt - Alamo City, Texas to Everyone:
Brenda it looks to be about 20 rpms/minute

17:22:12 From Dane Chandler -Tucson AZ to Everyone:
my Powermatic goes to 10

17:22:28 From John Scelfo New Jersey to Everyone:
I rub it on with a latex glove! Then toss it!

17:22:40 From Bob Moffett - N.C. to Everyone:
You can take the turntable motor out of a microwave and it is about 4 rpms.

17:22:54 From jim selby jacksonville fl to Everyone:
Gotta get off here. to hot in my computer room

17:22:58 From Tom in East Tennessee to Everyone:
I wonder if a different applicater might be better

17:23:54 From Kade Bolger, Woodturner to Everyone:
I use a foam brush so there are no bristle lines

17:23:58 From Matt Harber to Everyone:
I've used those Harbor Freight foam brushes, but you gotta use 'em quick, then toss 'em out, because if the epoxy gets too sticky, it will disintegrate the brush...

17:24:49 From Andy Schuster to Everyone:
Maybe a soft body filler squeegee? or a piece of mousepad like superglue?

17:26:07 From John Scelfo New Jersey to Everyone:
I use a heat gun to remove any bubbles!

17:26:36 From Gary Bobenhausen-Corinth, Texas to Everyone:
Heat gun good idea

17:26:41 From Dane Chandler -Tucson AZ to Everyone:

or a map torch

17:27:27 From John Scelfo New Jersey to Everyone:
Don't do it in a dusty shop!

17:28:12 From Matt Harber to Everyone:
It's not the heat that helps push the bubbles out, it's the carbon dioxide in the gases... that's why a heat gun doesn't work that well but a torch does... also you can just breathe on it (but don't breathe IN near the fumes).

17:30:09 From Dane Chandler -Tucson AZ to Everyone:
you would have to have a crazy amount of dust for it to be combustible....and if you have that much dust you won't be applying a finish let alone working in it (hopefully you wouldn't).

17:30:24 From John Scelfo New Jersey to Everyone:
I use a heat gun on hundreds of fishing lures and it works fine!

17:30:53 From Billy Burt - Alamo City, Texas to Everyone:
Spritzing it with isopropyl alcohol will remove the bubbles too

17:31:20 From Dane Chandler -Tucson AZ to Everyone:
the resin is also self leveling

17:31:34 From Matt Harber to Everyone:
Set time vs. cure time....

17:31:38 From John Scelfo New Jersey to Everyone:
Dane, I was talking about the dust getting on the finish!

17:31:42 From Kade Bolger, Woodturner to Everyone:
Same here John! I've used a heat gun and or a torch and they both work.

17:31:58 From Dane Chandler -Tucson AZ to Everyone:
right on John!

17:32:20 From Dane Chandler -Tucson AZ to Everyone:
wanted to clarify, lol!

17:32:35 From Kade Bolger, Woodturner to Everyone:
they both produce carbon dioxide in the heating process of the off gassing resin.

17:33:27 From Robert Hodge to Everyone:
Now this is why you need a 2nd wife to turn keep turning this...I mean lathe

17:34:15 From John Scelfo New Jersey to Everyone:
I use Envirotex, cures overnight!

17:34:51 From Dane Chandler -Tucson AZ to Everyone:
I use System Three. worth the dime.

17:36:13 From Dave - Lakewood NY to Everyone:
Fine demo

17:36:26 From Tim Hatch Bastrop, TX to Everyone:

17:41:15 From John Scelfo New Jersey to Everyone:
You can also connect the motor to your lathe!

17:41:18 From Ron Vincent Wyo., MI to Everyone:
I would try the framework from a plastic cutting board so it doesn't need bushings or bearings

17:41:24 From Bob Grinstead - Mansfield, Texas to Everyone:

17:44:29 From Kade Bolger, Woodturner to Everyone:

I use Designer Epoy or Chill Epoxy that is out of Quebec, Canada.

It is pricey but it is totally worth it. It's a non thermal cure. No heat generated, no bubbles, no problem. No pressure pot needed. □

17:44:54 From Tommy Schutz to Everyone:

Excellent job Bob, very informative

17:46:37 From Kade Bolger, Woodturner to Everyone:

yep. Imfao

17:48:15 From John Scelfo New Jersey to Everyone:

You can get the Envirotex Epoxy at Michaels with a Coupon for about 12$.

But it's slow cure. The finish is perfect when it's cured.
