17:00:37 From Bob Moffett - N.C. to Everyone:

Which threading jig is he using?

17:03:56 From Dane Chandler -Tucson AZ to Everyone:

why I use 3/32". I have good success with that being my OD for the male threads. easier to take a bit off than putting a bit back on. in a bind, you can wrap the tenon carefully with sewing thread, so in thin CA and then rethread.

17:05:50 From Matt Harber to Everyone:

Thanks, Dane. Good info. Can't hurt to be a little big, you can always take more wood off...

17:08:00 From Bob Grinstead - Mansfield, Texas to Everyone:

that would be a great trick Eddie

17:08:43 From Bob Moffett - N.C. to Everyone:

Simple, put the lathe in reverse to put the wood back on.

17:09:04 From Doug Miller in Kentucky to Everyone:

If it were only that easy

17:09:22 From brenda thornton greenville ohio to Everyone:

I put it back on with parfex 3408

17:09:27 From Dane Chandler -Tucson AZ to Everyone:

lol Bob

17:09:56 From Bob Moffett - N.C. to Everyone:

What jig is he using?

17:09:56 From Scott Hampton, Visalia, CA to Everyone:

I have a jig made by Sorby that allows me to measure the correct size tenon every time.

17:10:42 From Dane Chandler -Tucson AZ to Everyone:

thank you Tom for opening your shop up to us again

17:11:26 From brenda thornton greenville ohio to Everyone:

17:13:13 From Steve Lackscheide to Everyone:

17:19:41 From Tim Hatch Bastrop, TX to Everyone:
SWAG

17:20:09 From Dane Chandler -Tucson AZ to Everyone:
he's using a whiteness line from the initial tenon turned

17:21:34 From Tim Hatch Bastrop, TX to Everyone:

17:23:05 From Billy Burt - Alamo City, Texas to Everyone:

contact me at anytime: 520.904.2792

17:23:49 From Billy Burt - Alamo City, Texas to Everyone:

frugal vacuum chucks after buying the kit. lol

17:28:51 From SteveDurham to Everyone:
Sorry I'm late, what is he making?

17:29:09 From brenda thornton greenville ohio to Everyone:

Threaded insert

17:29:21 From Dane Chandler -Tucson AZ to Everyone:
we're doing threaded inserts....the like for urns

17:29:22 From SteveDurham to Everyone:
thanks

17:33:23 From Johnny Hughes to Everyone:
What kind of wood is the threaded insert

17:33:30 From Matt Harber to Everyone:
Very nice. This is a great idea.

17:33:35 From Steve Lackscheide to Everyone:
Cherry

17:33:36 From SteveDurham to Everyone:
in themicrowave

17:33:41 From Dane Chandler -Tucson AZ to Everyone:
using cherry for this

17:34:46 From Matt Harber to Everyone:
Yes... but making an insert out of small wood, this is a great idea. And if you want it black, you could dye it or ebonize it.

17:35:10 From Dave Kingsley - Lakewood NY to Everyone:

Thank you

17:35:17 From John Scelfo New Jersey to Everyone:
Nice work Walt!

17:35:17 From Matt Harber to Everyone:

good job Walter

17:37:21 From huck joe kansas to Everyone:
Great job and Great demo.Thanks Walter.

17:37:25 From Dane Chandler -Tucson AZ to Everyone:
you can do it on a sunny day also....it never rains/snows in the shop!

17:37:33 From Matt Harber to Everyone:
What purpose does the relief in the back serve?

17:38:12 From Dane Chandler -Tucson AZ to Everyone:
it's an exit for the tool so it doesn't bind/catch

17:38:31 From Scott Hampton, Visalia, CA to Everyone:
It keeps the threading tool from bottoming out and messing up the threads.

17:38:37 From Dave Kingsley - Lakewood NY to Everyone:
If your tool hits the back it will fracture the thread.

17:38:45 From Matt Harber to Everyone:
Thanks!

17:39:37 From Heather Spiritwynd to Everyone:
hi all. I'm just getting a break from work. been listening
