Are some woods better for carving than others?

17:46:22 From Michelle's iPad Pro:
How hard do you press? Looks harder than what I do

17:46:45 From Craig-Brunswick, GA:
as far as carving ease. Basswood, soft, straight grain, few knots

17:46:54 From Spiritwynd WoodStoneAndBone:
I've carved red oak before. I wouldn't suggest it for newbies. It's really hard, and time consuming

Bass wood is the preferred wood for carving. However embellishing on a bowl or some other turning pieces, hardwood is probably being used.
