what you should do is divide by 0.7, that would give you the correct figure.  $$100 / 0.7 = $143$

16:16:40 From Ray-Daca Timberworks Monroe, MI:
Reacted to "Good eveing everyone..." with

130$

16:23:22 From Paul Hannaby creative-woodturning.com:
Replying to "to get your 100% bac..."

there is a difference between markup and commission

16:23:31 From Dane Chandler - PC - Tucson AZ:
Replying to "to get your 100% bac..."

spelling only

16:23:40 From Matt Harber - DAW - Highland, MI - Goblets!:
Replying to "to get your 100% bac..."

130. Then take 30% commission on that. It's $91, not $100.

16:24:03 From Ray-Daca Timberworks Monroe, MI:
finish looked great Al

16:24:32 From Paul Hannaby creative-woodturning.com:

Replying to "to get your 100% bac..."

the way to work out what to charge to allow for commission is subtract the commission from 1 and then use that number to divide into your price.

16:24:45 From Stanley Langford:

What about a craft show? Would you have a formula to use for the entrance fee?

16:25:05 From Paul Hannaby creative-woodturning.com:

Replying to "to get your 100% bac..."

eg.  $1 - 0.3 = 0.7$  , then  $100 / 0.7 = 1.43$
