17:19:22 From Tim Hatch Bastrop, TX : Did he cut that groove or is that fatigue in the metal separating...

Reactions:

17:21:19 From Dane Chandler Tucson AZ : speed is relevant to the turner. only turn as fast as you are comfortable doing so.

From Billy B (Alamo City) : If it don't feel right, don't do it!

17:31:41 From Nikki : Move the tool rest closer to the edge if your trying to take that off

17:32:01 From Patrick Hoggard, Chiskie, NC : 5/8 " bowl gouge can do the same thing and get a smoother finish.

Reactions:

17:32:04 From joe gibson : that cutter is like a shovel. it's digging a lot of wood.

17:32:12 From Billy B (Alamo City) : Ahhhhh, I'm much better now.

Reactions:

17:44:29 From Matt Harber, Goblets : Who's selling a laser? What kind (and model)? Not that I'm in the market, but you never know...

17:44:53 From Nikki : K40 water cooled

17:45:38 From Nikki : I have the entire set up but I am too tech dumb to even want to learn this thing

From Matt Harber, Goblets : Which make and model?

From Matt Harber, Goblets : Or would you rather someone help you through it to get it working?

17:46:32 From Billy B (Alamo City) : I had a K40 and sold it. The bed was too small for the things I do.

17:49:10 From Nikki : Yeah I just don't feel any desire to use it. I prefer to just hand burn. Custom is my preference. Hand Crafted is my preference because you get one in 1 million as opposed to laser crafted where you get 1 million to one.

From Billy B (Alamo City) : I'm lazy, I like a million to one. lol

Reactions:

17:49:57 From Tim Hatch Bastrop, TX : light cuts... slow is smooth and smooth is fast and requires less sanding... just a thought....

17:50:42 From Nikki : Bowls and woodcrafts are like children, every single one is its own individual. It's very difficult to make exact duplicates of any product that you make.

17:50:58 From SusieB - Cape May, NJ : i think we're all on the edge of our seats

From Billy B (Alamo City) : I'm on the seat of my edge.

Reactions:
- 17:52:31 From Nikki : I. Frozen
Reactions:
- 17:52:36 From Matt Harber, Goblets : This is a good example of why you want the camera mount to not be in contact with your lathe....
- From Dane Chandler Tucson AZ : exactly
- Reactions:
- 17:53:19 From Tim Hatch Bastrop, TX : You are not kidding... Edge of my seat....
- 17:53:27 From Victor Todd, Mills River, NC : Don't forget Talladega
Reactions:
- 17:55:05 From Tim Hatch Bastrop, TX : Curved tool rest....helps get to the inside of the bowl
- 17:56:32 From Tim Hatch Bastrop, TX : Like CPT Eddie Says... "Get Over It" .."Turn on the other side of the Lathe"
- 17:57:00 From Brent Sobotka : Brings to mind, David Ellsworth sitting on the end of the lathe.
Reactions:
- 17:57:34 From Victor Todd, Mills River, NC : I've sat on my bed way a few times
- From Dane Chandler Tucson AZ : why i slide my headstock to the end to turn bowl insides, boxes, hollows
- 17:58:56 From band aid brenda : maybe al can show that since hes got his camera right there
- 17:59:17 From Scott's iPad : I am thoroughly enjoying the interaction on Al's demo. The live feedback is phenomenal
- 17:59:55 From Victor Todd, Mills River, NC : I was thinking about staying after hours today. Definitely staying now
Reactions:
- 18:01:20 From Scott's iPad : In response to her comment- a lot of the people in this guild are master turners.
- 18:02:14 From Dane Chandler Tucson AZ : FYI master turner is a made up title here in US
- From Billy B (Alamo City) : I would say unofficial, not made up.

From Billy B (Alamo City) : I know a number of American turners I consider to be master turners. And I ain't one!

From Matt Harber, Goblets : Awesome!

Reactions:

18:12:38 From Scott's iPad : I have issues with the bottom feeder. Better luck with a scraper. To do those clean up cuts, I love my 1/4" bowl gouge. It doesn't let me get too aggressive

18:13:30 From Nikki : Plaining cut with a gauge

18:14:46 From Matt Harber, Goblets : I get most of it with shearing cuts and scrapes.... ^_^

Reactions:

- 18:19:50 From Dane Chandler Tucson AZ : 50yr old files are fine to grind as turning tools, files of today from the BOX store or ZON are case hardended steel and will blow up on you

- 18:33:06 From Tim Hatch Bastrop, TX : wood burning between the colors gives you a good separation point if I am understanding this technique.. to prevent bleed over

From Matt Harber, Goblets : Correct. Seals the wood tubes between areas.

18:36:11 From Matt Harber, Goblets : Obsession. Passion. (hardly a hobby!)
